How We Do It

- Applicants submit to the NRMP lists of programs ranked from most to least preferred of where they would like to train. At the same time, training programs submit lists of applicants who they would most like to train.
- Using a proprietary algorithm, the NRMP places applicants with their most preferred programs that also prefer them.
- Once matched, applicants and programs enter into a binding commitment for training. The binding commitment ensures the continuity and distribution of physicians into community-based and academic centers across the U.S.
- With a Match, applicants and programs are treated equally, and their preferences drive outcomes, thereby reducing bias and inequities in training selection.

Why We Matter

NRMP supports a fair, transparent, and efficient transition to residency by aligning applicant and program preferences through a structured matching process.

NRMP has served more than 1.4 million applicants for both residency and fellowship training since 1992.

- NRMP supports a fair, transparent, and efficient transition to residency by aligning applicant and program preferences through a structured matching process.
- NRMP data informs national trends in specialty preferences and reflects physician distribution across the U.S.
- NRMP Matches champion order, fairness, and transparency of experience and provide applicants with agency and choice in specialization.

Our core values and principles:

FELLOWS

After medical school, physician learners, or residents, complete a residency in a core specialty. Some residents may then seek additional training in a subspecialty or fellowship program. Interested eligible individuals can then apply to subspecialties or fellowships and register for the appropriate match.

To participate in a Specialties Matching Service® Fellowship Match, prior to the start of training, an applicant must have completed all training required for the position, must meet all requirements for entry into graduate medical education (GME) as prescribed by the appropriate organization, and any additional eligibility requirements provided by the sponsoring institution (e.g., a teaching hospital).
